

Craig Lossing

ARTIST STATEMENT:

Craig Lossing is a professional woodturner whose award-winning work has been sought after by fine galleries and collectors for over 25 years. He applies traditional woodturning techniques but goes beyond functionality, creating detailed boxes and hollow form sculptural vessels that are works of art. Craig selects highly figured woods from around the world for his pieces, often combining different species for color play and definition of forms. He never applies any stains, preferring to use finishing oil to highlight the natural beauty of the wood. Craig's stunning work has been featured in museum collections, art books and national magazine articles.
